

“We never thought it would happen here,” “None of our people would ever do that.”
 ...Perhaps above all else, the most effective security program is the proactive and anticipatory one, far above the reactive one.

-150 Things You Should Know About Security, Fennelly & Perry

Call or email us today to get started with a proactive solution that meets your need for security.

Lidia Brodine

Is your school secure?

GENESIS

Lidia.Brodine@genesispoe.com
 Matt.Brodine@genesispoe.com

Tel 913.827.3805
 Tel 816.219.1088

GENESIS

Providing peace of mind, knowing you have done everything possible to make your spaces safe.

Is your school secure?

We can help you create a proactive & effective security solution.

More and more, schools are realizing the need for a proactive security solution.

- Crimes happen regardless of size, location, or demographics
- Reduce child abuse vulnerability from sexual predators, who often seek victims in high-trust environments
- Ensure safety and security of children
- Protect property from vandalism & theft
- Provide accountability in specific areas

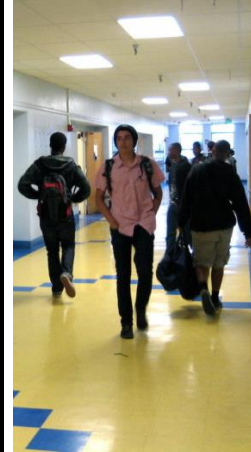

Having a historical video record of events is critical for areas with small children.

“...the size and financial resources of your facility [may vary]...but some protection is better than no protection.” – Paula L. Ratliff

Cameras in corridors and entrances provides a visual deterrent to would-be predators.

Recorded video keeps children safer and provides a record of events should anything suspicious be reported.

No one likes to consider what might happen...

Schools in America today face many challenges, working in a broken world with broken people. Threats to those involved in education are both external and internal. Since 1999 in Columbine, there have been about 220 acts of violence in schools, 59 of which were deadly in the U.S., not to mention countless acts of vandalism, bullying, drug related activities and theft. Sadly, internal attacks like abuse and predatory behavior are even more common, and often would-be perpetrators seek out high-trust environments like schools. In addition to adhering to strong safety policies, reducing opportunity for these crimes through surveillance and building access control is a critical line of defense.

We would love to walk alongside you to make your spaces secure yet remain welcoming.

Cutting-edge camera systems

Mobile-friendly video access

Audio/Video door access control

Network audio systems (paging, announcements, music)

Securing entrances & exits with key-card access control

Genesis is:

- Passionate about protecting children and families
- Committed to doing excellent work that is custom designed & built for you
- Ready to handle consultation, design, installation, & support
- A friendly, personal, family-owned Kansas City business